

Ol' Don's Drawing Table

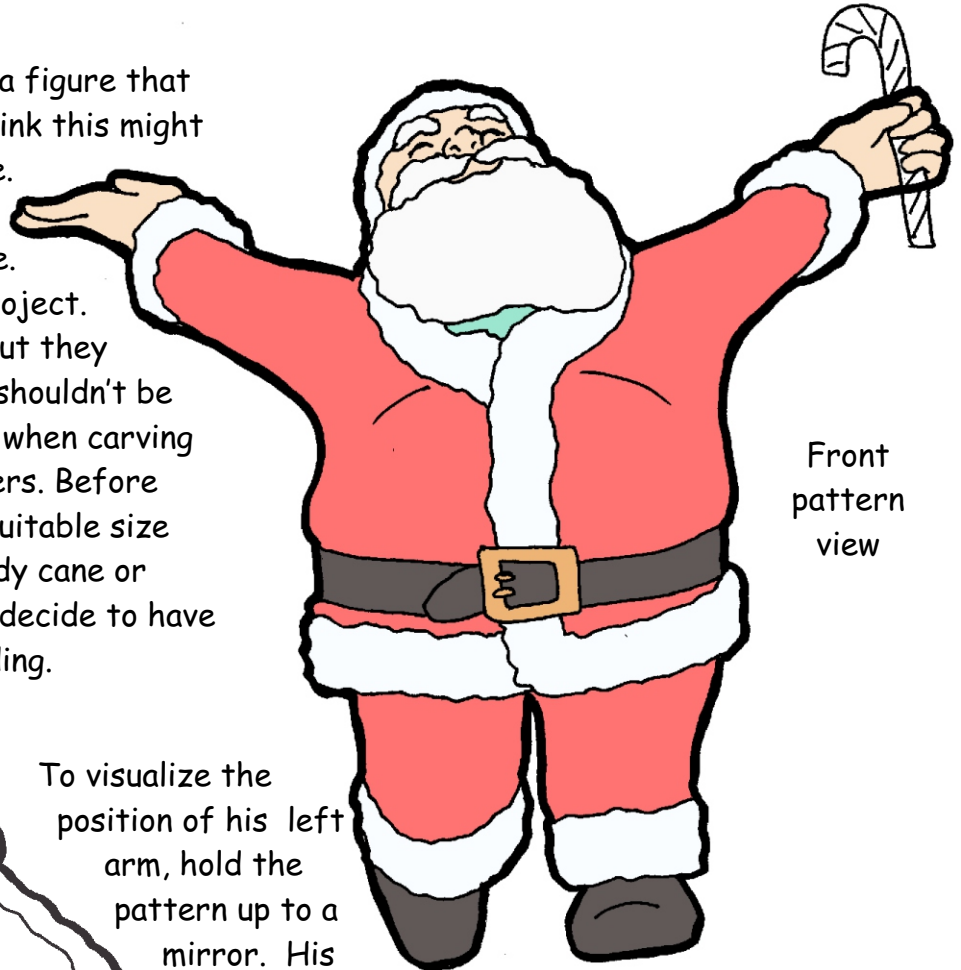

(C) 2012

What can you do with a Santa figure that hasn't been done before? I think this might be a bit different for a change.

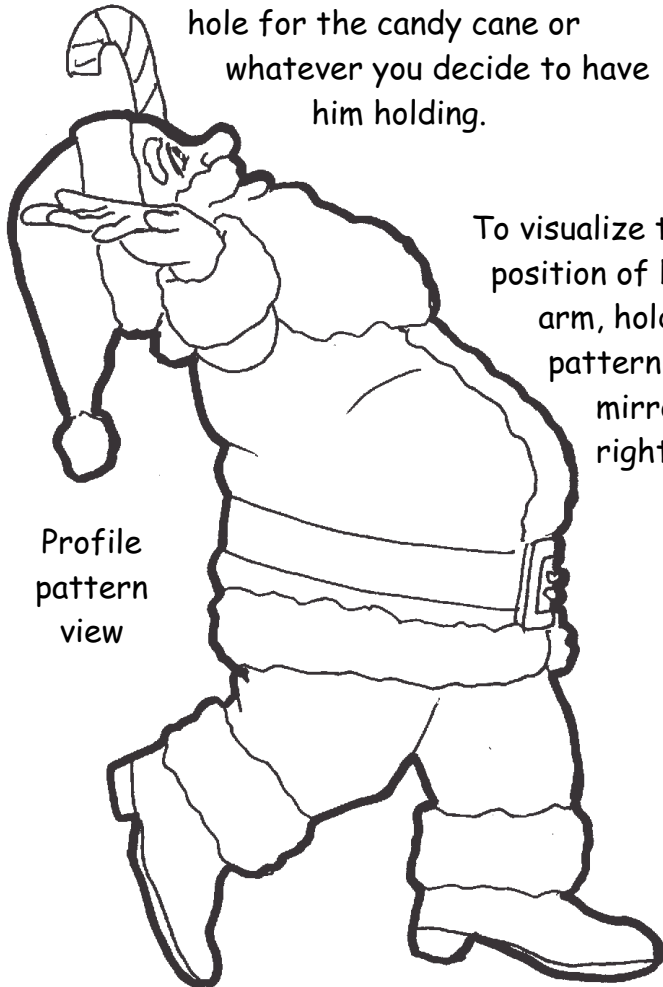

He's reared back shouting Merry Christmas to everyone.

Use a vertical grain for this project.

His arms will be cross grain but they are thick enough so that they shouldn't be fragile. You'll want to use care when carving his extended right hand fingers. Before carving his left hand, drill a suitable size hole for the candy cane or whatever you decide to have him holding.

To visualize the position of his left arm, hold the pattern up to a mirror. His right and left arm are mirror images of each other.

HO, HO, HO
AND A MERRY
CHRISTMAS
ONE AND ALL
