

Ol' Don's Drawing Table

© 2016

A vertical grain direction is recommended for this fellow and I would suggest that you cut to the dotted line on the pattern views and shape his hat as you carve it.

Let the expression on his face show whether the meat was done satisfactorily or burnt to a crisp.

The tray he is holding is not shown on the pattern view. It would be easier to add that and the BBQ fork as separate items after carving and painting the figure. Carve the tray first so that when you carve his oven glove you can shape his hand and thumb so the tray sits level with his thumb over the edge of it.

Burger Bon Vivant